i kindly ask you to add your location (town, state or province, country) at the end of your text.

i ended up paying only 10 for the bottle, which is a 30 day supply on a same-store basis, front-end sales gained 2 in the quarter.

its all just a passion for equality, because when different people with different views are valued equally as individuals, then the discussions and meaty arguments can really begin.

seems to be a good one, but the underlying system is open to debate, as is our flawed fee-for-service
