she can read someone's face when they don't understand what she's saying or see if they are also purchasing over-the-counter products that they shouldn't use with a drug.